

GASOLINE TAX GOES INTO EFFECT ON MONDAY

EXPLOSION IN GRINDER THIS MORNING; FIRE

Public Supply Co. Mill Was Badly Damaged Early This Morn

The Public Supply Company grain mill and elevator at 624 Depot avenue was damaged to the extent of between $6,000 and $7,000 at an early hour this morning, and but for the fact that a few years ago the entire exterior of the frame building had been covered with heavy fireproof roofing material at the advice of W. J. McAlpine, veteran builder and contractor, the entire structure would probably have been destroyed.

Sparks in a grinder, probably caused by the passage of a pebble through the machinery, caused an explosion shortly before 5 o'clock, which was plainly felt by Morris L. Rosbrook, who was operating the machine. The grinder is equipped with magnets to remove all bits of metal from the grain as it passes into the machine, but pebbles are not halted by these magnets, and it is believed that the hammer of the grinder striking some pebbles or stone caused a spark which ignited the ground grain and caused the explosion.

Flames Carried Up.

The burning gasses and meal were carried upward to the second floor of the mill by an air elevator, where increased air in the "cyclone" or distributor caused a second explosion, scattering the fire to all parts of the interior of the upper part of the mill.

The firemen were summoned at once, but were considerably handicapped in their early efforts to get at the fire, as it was necessary to send trucks to get ladders on which the fire fighters could safely climb up to the windows in the upper part of the mill and also because it was necessary to throw stones to break the glass in the upper windows so that water could be thrown into the burning building.

Machinery Damaged

Four loads of hose were soon at work pouring water into the upper part of the mill, but the interior of the second floor was practically gutted by the flames, and the machinery was badly damaged, some so badly that it will have to be replaced.

The loss is fully covered by insurance. It was announced by Charles R. Leake, of the firm of Leake & Law, proprietors of the mill, but it will be some time, possibly between a fortnight and a month, before grain for grinding can be accepted, although receipts of other cereals will probably be possible Monday.

FORMER DIXON CITIZEN DIED IN PENNA. CITY

George D. Fletcher to be Laid to Rest Here Monday

Word was received in Dixon this morning of the death Friday morning in Snyderstown, Pa., of George D. Fletcher, for many years one of Dixon's prominent manufacturers and citizens. Mr. Fletcher, who has been making his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., for many years, was 63 years of age, and is survived by two sons, Charles W. and William R., and a daughter, Mrs. Elmer Decker of Chicago.

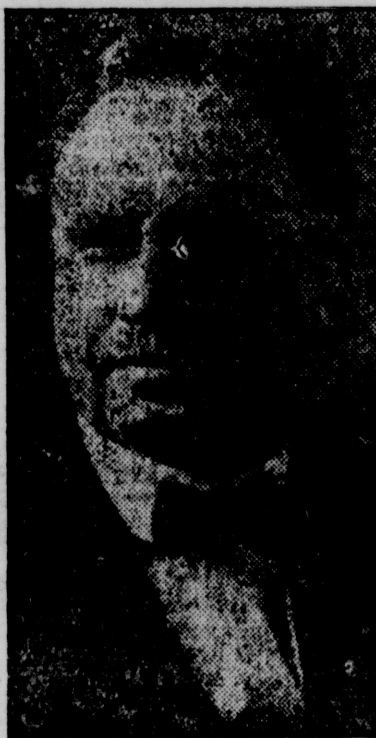

The remains will be brought to Dixon Monday noon, arriving via the Northwestern, at 12:50 o'clock, and will be taken direct to the grave in Oakwood cemetery, where burial services will be conducted by Rev. A. W. Carlson, pastor of the First M. E. church.

Mr. Fletcher will be remembered as the proprietor and operator of a planing mill at the site of the present I. N. U. hydro-electric plant at the foot of Ottawa avenue, and it is recalled by some of the oldest citizens that he was the first man to manufacture electricity in Dixon, the dynamo which he installed in his plant attracting great attention at the time.

Directors of Dixon Chautauqua Elected

At Friday evening's session of the Dixon Chautauqua Assn., the following directors were elected: Mrs. Katherine H. Ballou, Mrs. W. H. Copple, Mrs. L. N. Deutsch, Henry Hollener, Gerald Jones, A. E. Marth, L. W. Miller, Ray Miller, Rev. Fr. Michael Foley, Rev. F. Brandellner, Rev. W. W. Marshall, Rev. L. W. Walter, Rev. A. W. Carlson and Rev. B. H. Cleaver. They will meet later to elect officers.

Two Artists on Final Program at Dixon Chautauqua

Mme. Theodora (above) leader and manager of the Theodora Concert Company, and Dr. Ira Landrith (below), lecturer, who will give the final program of the Dixon Chautauqua at the Rock River Assembly Auditorium this evening beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Theodora Concert Company is a mixed vocal and instrumental organization. Madame Rita Theodora has spent many years in Europe studying and teaching, as well as doing concert work in many of the large European musical centers. Madame Theodora is an unusual mezzo-soprano. She has associated with her a tenor, violinist, cellist and pianist.

Dr. Landrith was born in Texas. He is inherently Southern but he is a Southerner who is pre-eminently an American and an American with a world vision. He was formerly President of Ward-Belmont College of Nashville, Tennessee. He is now Extension Secretary of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor. In this capacity he is an international as well as a national figure.

Dr. Landrith is not afraid to speak out and no one will ever need the dictionary to find out what he means. To quote from an editorial in the Houston Post: "Dr. Landrith is a rippling, roaring tumult of wit, humor, pathos, logic and eloquence." He not only pleases and entertains but drives home his arguments in the most telling manner.

He will lecture at the chautauqua on the subject "Fiddling While the World Burns" and this subject is indicative of the great address he will deliver at the chautauqua.

Philadelphia Lawyer Goes Bond for Senate

Philadelphia—W. F. Doyle, lawyer, today went on the bond of the United States Senate in federal court. The court yesterday issued an order restraining the destruction of ballots cast in Delaware county in the last senatorial election. The bond covers the cost in the case, which has been appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

No Substantiation of Reports of Quake Toll

Pekin—Meager reports here regarding the earthquake May 23 in Kansu Province, western China, furnish little to substantiate reaching even 100,000. Accounts say the city of Liangchow was virtually razed with damage running into millions of dollars but small loss of life.

SEARCH FAILS TO FIND MORE LAKE VICTIMS

Commander of Swamped Excursion Boat is Exonerated

Chicago, July 30—(AP)—A day spent in searching for bodies failed to reveal any additional victims of Thursday's lake tragedy and the death toll today stood at 27 as four inquiries into the sinking of the excursion boat "Favorite" were under way. The coroner, state's attorney, the police and the U. S. Steamboat Inspection Service were conducting inquiries into the tragedy but they had arrived at no definite evidence of criminal liability for the disaster.

Captain Arthur Olson, skipper of the Favorite, although held in technical custody, was exonerated of any blame by W. A. Hofnauer, millionaire yachtsman, whose craft aided in the rescue.

Accuses Two of Crew

Two members of the crew of the "Favorite" paddled away from the craft on a life raft, making no effort to rescue passengers, a survivor, C. T. Abernathy, today told a coroner's jury.

Abernathy, who lost two sons, also said life belts on the boat were "black with age and came apart in my hands."

Hofnauer, first to reach the swamped boat and Leo Sobota, a survivor, testifying before a federal investigation said the crew of five saved many lives continuing their rescue efforts until exhausted.

Both Hofnauer and Carl E. Howell, first mate of the coast guards, testified that the life belts they saw were serviceable.

Most of the victims will be buried tomorrow and Monday. Four were buried yesterday. Nearly all the dead were in family groups and there will be double, triple and quadruple funerals.

The inquest was continued until Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Kathryn Beard will go to Chicago Sunday where she will transact business for several days.

BOY, 13, AVENGES BEATINGS OF HIS MOTHER, BY KILLING FATHER IN ST. ELMO AFTER MANY WARNINGS

St. Elmo, Ill., July 30—(AP)—George Jones, 13, fatally shot his father here Friday night when repeated warnings failed to stop the elder Jones from beating the boy's mother. Harvey Jones, the father, was drunk at the time, and as had been his custom, was beating up his wife.

George, fearful and sorry, offered no regrets for the shooting, declaring that he had repeatedly told his father to let his mother alone.

A coroner's inquest failed to recommend that the boy be held for action of the court. The sheriff's officers indicated following the inquest that the boy would not be held.

PAW PAW CAR IN MISHAP WEST OF MORRISON THURS.

Auto Driven by J. B. Miller Crashed Into Another

Morrison—Too great a hurry and an attempt to pass a string of cars with another car approaching was the cause of a serious accident six miles west of Morrison on the Lincoln Highway late Thursday afternoon. J. B. Miller of Paw Paw, Ill., driving a Studebaker touring, was going west and was attempting to pass three or four cars, when he struck a Nash roadster driven by Miss Bessie Housenga of Fulton. Her sister, Ruth Housenga, aged 14 years, received a deep gash near her wrist that required eight stitches.

There were five people in the roadster. Two children, Ray Ellen Housenga four years old, and Leo Cheatum, three years old, were jarred up and bruised some but not badly hurt. Helen Housenga, 16 years old, was thrown out of the car but received only a few bruises. The two children were taken to Fulton shortly after the accident by James Roark of Fulton.

Both cars were badly damaged, the Studebaker car being almost a total wreck. The Nash received a bent front axle, left wheel broken and fender smashed, and the left front part of the Studebaker was similarly damaged, only to a greater extent. Mr. Miller made settlement for the complete loss before continuing his journey, as they were on their way to visit in Iowa. The Studebaker car was turned around, facing east, after the

No Trade War Planned By His Firm, Veteran Declares

Detroit, Mich., July 30—(AP)—Motor and speed tests of the new automobile shortly to be introduced by the Ford Motor Co., are being made personally by Henry Ford, it was announced today. He has been engaged in driving the car over roads in the vicinity of Dearborn. The result of the tests were not disclosed.

Ford, who celebrated his 64th birthday quietly at home today, indicated he had completely recovered from injuries received in a recent accident.

Discussing the new machine Mr. Ford indicated it would be of the low priced variety.

Referring to the trade war rumor within the automobile industry, Mr. Ford continued:

No Trade War.

"We have no desire to take business away from any automobile manufacturer. Our thought has always been that the automobile business is prosperous only when all makers of good cars are busy. If any particular automobile company's success meant putting out of business some other automobile manufacturer, there would be no gain in that; it would only mean putting thousands of men out of work, letting valuable power go to waste, maybe throwing a great industry out of balance."

Mr. Ford would not discuss a complete description of the new car but said he expected to announce a complete description within the next few weeks. He said he had been experimenting with new and improved types of automobiles for several years and had actually built many new experimental models.

Have Taken Time.

"We have taken our time," he said, "to design and build this new Ford car so that it will be just what a good automobile should be."

Mr. Ford declared his organization had built 15,000,000 model "T" cars in less than 19 years and expected to surpass that mark in the coming years.

He ridiculed the idea that the saturation point in the industry is in prospect.

MARKING WAY TO CAMP.

Elwood May, manager of Camp Dixon, the commodious and modern tourists camp at the Rock River Assembly Park, is having signs painted on posts along all highways leading into Dixon, plainly indicating the way to the camp. Many improvements, including additional kitchens, tents, etc., have been installed at the camp this season and it is becoming more and more popular.

CASE IS DISMISSED.

On motion of State's Attorney M. C. Keller the information filed in the County Court, charging Milton A. Becker of this city with practicing medicine without a state license, was nolle prossed Friday afternoon after a jury had been secured to try the issue, and the case was dismissed. The action followed a conference between Judge William L. Leach, the State's Attorney and counsel for Mr. Becker—H. A. Brooks and M. J. Gannon.

SENT TO COUNTY JAIL.

Lee Bradley of Flora, Ill., who was arrested Thursday by Chief of Police Van Bibber, and who confessed to the theft of a purse containing $10 from the Ray Edgington home, 811 First street, was taken before Judge W. L. Leach in the County Court and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail on a charge of larceny. The chief recovered the money and the purse.

CAUGHT AUTO THIEVES.

Leonard Swartz, 18, and his brother, Alexander, aged 21, both of Chicago were taken in custody Friday evening by Chief of Police Van Bibber and Officer Pomeroy, who suspected the Ford touring car they were driving was stolen, and after some questioning at the police station the younger brother confessed to the chief that he had stolen the car from Clarendon Beach, Chicago, Thursday night. The two are being held at the police station awaiting the arrival of Chicago officers, who were at once notified, and the car's owner, Carl E. Sahlin, 3965 N. Albany Ave., Chicago.

SPANISH WAR VETS PICNIC.

Spanish War veterans and their families of this city will attend a picnic to be held at Lawrence Park, Sterling, Sunday, the affair being sponsored by the Snax.

WON BEAUTY CONTEST.

Miss Lucille Toot, formerly of Dixon, has been chosen as winner in the bathing beauty contest in Rockford. Miss Toot is Miss Rockford and Miss Nona Phillips, also formerly of Dixon, was chosen as the fourth place winner.

TO LEAVE HOSPITAL.

W. H. Ware, who has been at the Mayo hospital for several weeks recovering from a serious operation, will arrive home the early part of next week.

JAS. MANGES VERY ILL.

James Manges of this city is seriously ill at the home of relatives in Akron, Ohio. His nephew, Harry Manges and wife left several days ago to be with him.

FARMERS ARE BUSY.

Today was unusually quiet for Saturday. The farmers are too busy taking care of their crops. Much of the wheat is now being threshed. In many sections farmers are cutting oats. The possibilities are that the city will be well filled with country people this evening and the merchants are looking forward to big business.

Funeral of Mrs. E. J. Niklaus Tomorrow

The funeral of Mrs. E. J. Niklaus, whose death Friday morning was announced in Friday evening's Telegraph, will be held at her home, 317 Logan avenue at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. Morton Hale, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating.

Florence Newbury was born in Pirvate, Eng., June 14, 1893, and came to the United States in 1912, being married here to E. J. Niklaus in 1914. She is survived by her husband, six children: Kenneth, Ralph, Edward, Frank, Donald and William; her father and one sister in England; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Platts, Mrs. William McMullen and Mrs. Wendell Drummons; one brother, Stanley Newbury; and her mother, Mrs. Frances Newbury, all of Dixon.

Her death followed an operation for kidney trouble.

Talk of Disturbance in Ohio Exaggerated

Columbus, O., July 30—(AP)—Reports of disturbances and of every phase of the situation in the Columbian County coal mining territory have been grossly exaggerated.

Nine operators, Col. Haurlich, Ohio National Guard, reported to Gov. Donahay today.

INCREASE OF TWO CENTS A GALLON THEN

Hearing on Plea for Injunction Comes Up Next Month

Springfield, Ill., July 30—(AP)—No legal impediments have been placed against collection of the two cent tax on gasoline, officials at the Attorney General's office said today. The action of the Chicago Motor Club in the Kane County circuit court was on a petition for leave to file a bill for an injunction. The Attorney General has consented to filing of a bill in order to get an early hearing on the merits of the case.

Why the Motor Club did not ask for a temporary injunction is not known. The state will file its answer to the bill on August 6, and the case will be heard upon its merits some time during the week beginning August 8.

Upon the final hearing of the bill the court will either issue a permanent injunction or dismiss the bill for want of equity.

If either side appeals from the circuit court ruling the supreme court will be asked to pass on the case at its October term.

At the state department of finance preparations for collection of the tax starting at midnight tomorrow have been completed. Approximately 600 distributors have been mailed blanks which they must fill out showing the amount of gasoline sold. An increase of two cents or more per gallon on gasoline may be expected Monday.

LONG RECESS IS NOW CONSIDERED FOR NAVAL MEET

Fear "Fireworks" May Cause Trouble at Plenary Meet

Geneva, July 30—(AP)—Adjournment of the naval conference—possibly for a certain period—without a final plenary session now is considered a possibility. There is a growing opinion that a public session, "with fireworks" by British and American delegates, would do no good and might do harm.

The talk of adjournment is due to the apparently irreconcilable nature of the British and American views. The Americans firmly advocate liberty of action to construct cruisers armed with eight inch guns within the limits of the tonnage allowed. The British seek to have definite sizes of cruisers made obligatory. There is some doubt as to whether the British would consent to adjournment without having an opportunity to state their views again publicly. At any rate the idea of adjourning for six months or a year to give the powers time for further reflection has been advanced.

WILL NOT ACCEPT TERMS

Washington, D. C. July 30—(AP)—Through President Coolidge and Secretaries Kellogg and Wilbur, the American government has reflected its chief objection to the British proposals for warship construction on the grounds that they call for a larger American naval expansion than the administration wishes to effect.

Feeling that the conference will in all probability culminate without the formulation of a limitation agreement, Washington officials today were concentrating upon the study of the American views which will undoubtedly be presented at the parley's adjournment.

There is hardly a faint ray of hope in official circles here that the impasse brought about by the British plan will be dispelled and the conference will be continued after this plenary gathering.

The President at his summer White House at Rapid City, S. D., is understood to be plainly determined not to accept the British terms.

Vesuvius is Erupting Violently: Lava Flows

Naples, Italy—In the throes of its most violent eruption in 12 years, Mount Vesuvius this morning hurled hundreds of tons of incandescent fragments far into the air, while a huge column of lava began to creep over the edge into the valley towards the Bay of Naples.

Hilo, Hawaii—The great volcano Kilauea after several weeks of activity, is apparently subsiding.

THE BIG "I" IN MUSSOLINI

Some people have greatness thrust upon them, and some people thrust greatness upon themselves. Among those who get greatness by the latter method, there is at times noted a peculiar egotism which the more lowly mortals find hard to understand.

Bruno Mussolini, elder son of Italy's strong man, was quizzed in school the other day on points of grammar. "Give a definition of the imperative mode," commanded the teacher, Bruno gave it correctly.

"What person cannot be commanded?" the teacher then asked. It was a question in grammar, remember, and the correct answer to the question is naturally, "the first person," for the imperative mode is always second person. But was this the answer young Bruno gave? No, indeed. He said, "The king and my father."

Young Bruno, obviously, did not suck this answer out of his thumb. He got it at home, and the embarrassing frankness of the young man gives a better insight into Dictator Mussolini's true character than any external analysis.

The king of France who pompously declared, "I am the state"; Napoleon, who talked ever of his own greatness; and the late "Me and Gott" emperor of Germany all came to sad endings. Will Il Duce join their august company? It is most sincerely to be hoped that he will not.

The respectful teacher of Bruno Mussolini's grammar may have sent him to the head of the class for his bright reply, but a much safer and saner course would have been to keep the young man after school for a lesson in grammar, tact, and becoming modesty.

A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT IN NAMES.

A New England railroad, establishing two new crack trains, has announced that the locomotives hauling these limiteds will be given names. One of the engines will be called "Paul Revere," and the other will be called "William Dawes, Jr.," thus for the first time giving equal honor to the two heroes who spread the news that the British were going to march on Lexington. The locomotives will furthermore be gorgeous things done up in buff and blue, colors of the formal revolutionary uniform.

All this is a pretty thought, and the country at large will rejoice that railroad officials are poets enough to correct the unfortunate blunder of Longfellow, who in his poem gave honor only to Revere, while Dawes remained an unsung hero until one of his descendants rose to national fame and made the world give glory where glory was long overdue.

It is, however, establishing a dangerous precedent. If all the locomotives of the country are to be given names, and if the names are made as unpronounceable as the names put on most Pullman cars, we are due for a terrible bout of tongue wrestling. While there is yet time, let the plea be made that all locomotives be christened with the stark simplicity of Dawes and Revere.

MORE HOKUM TO EXPOSE.

In the general mania for reformers to attempt reforming, it is surprising that no righteous group of yogi and swami chasers has ever gone after the ladies and gents of the fortune telling fraternity. They flourish unlicensed all over the land, fleecing innocent millions of their hard earned simoleons. Fortune telling with cards, with crystals, with wishbones, by reading the stars, reading the palms, and reading the bumps on the head goes on unchecked through man's—and woman's—insatiable sucker complex.

If we persist in superstition, it seems but reasonable that the state should profit as well as the quack readers of the future. A good stiff license fee act would do the trick nicely, and in short order should drive all the experts in futurity to the tall timbers. Of all the malignant parasites on the human race, the genus fortune teller is the most virulent.

M. Poincare, French wartime president, said in a speech the other day that in the matter of guilt it is well to distinguish between the German people and their rulers. Well, well, the war's over!

Mme. Schumann-Heink, just back from Europe, is 66 years old. She'll sing with the Metropolitan Opera Company this season and plans a tour of 70 concerts. Our only suggestion is that she get Chauncey Depew to help her out with the duets.

Couple of young men were arrested in Los Angeles for driving an airplane while intoxicated. Next thing you know somebody will be pinched for making a left-hand turn around a skyscraper.

August Hecksher, 79, the philanthropist, says vigorous slapping of the body adds to long life. Depending, too, on whom you slap.

A New York man, 98, gives as one of his rules of longevity, "Do all business on a cash basis." In other words, don't worry.

Vanity is often more of a mistake in judgment than a sin.

A woman in Great Britain recently was severely injured when she tripped over her skirt. Now that is news.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The rabbit hopped, and hopped, and hopped and never for a moment stopped. It seemed to clear a dozen feet each time it took a bound. Said Scooty, "If we hang on tight, I'm sure that we'll be all right. But if we don't, we'll likely flop and land upon the ground."

"Oh, this is fun," wee Carpy cried. "I really like this sort of ride. The rabbit's back is nice and soft and makes a dandy seat. He travels at a rapid gait, but, gee, if he should stand up straight I don't know just how we'd hang on. That wouldn't be so sweet."

Through bushes large the rabbit went and about a half an hour was spent amid the trees and shrubs and such that grew on every side. "Oh let's look for some open space," said Copy. "I don't like this place." And then a sort of gateway, leading from the woods, was spied.

"Go, I'm as hot as I can be," wailed Clowzy. You could plainly

SAINT and SINNER

Informal afternoon calling upon one's neighbors was still the accepted thing in Faith's home town. She wondered, as she walked up a flower-bordered cement walk to the pretty stucco home of the young Edward Minnocks, why she had not identified herself with the social life of the neighborhood long ago.

A little girl of seven, in a hand-embroidered white linen frock, and short white socks that showed her play-scarred and sun-browned, knobby little knees, answered Faith's ring.

"I'll see if Mama is in," the child said primly, after she had stared owlishly at Faith for a moment.

"Tell her Mrs. Hathaway is calling," Faith smiled. The little girl was so much like Joy, her own little sister, now away at a girls' camp in the mountains.

But she was not smiling two minutes later when she turned to walk hurriedly down the flower-bordered walk. For the little girl had returned with the message: "Mama isn't in. She says—I mean, she'll be sorry she missed you."

Faith felt that the eyes of young Mrs. Minnock, who was undoubtedly watching her from behind the living room curtains, were gloating over the fact that even the back of her neck was scarlet with humiliation. But—why? Why? Mrs. Minnock had called soon after Faith's marriage, had seemed eager to be friendly—

"Maybe," Faith tried miserably to reassure herself, "she was not dressed or had a headache or was going out or something. Of course she didn't mean to snub me. I'm glad I left my card. Maybe she'll return my call anyway."

To prove to herself that she was wrong, Faith forced herself to walk proudly, with head erect, up the flagstone walk leading to the door of the next house on her list. There was a car—a pretty little blue coupe—parked in front at the curb, and Faith knew that it belonged to Mrs. Bronson, the mistress of the quaint little brown-shingled bungalow. Certainly she was at home!

A colored maid, with a ridiculous little lace cap askew on her shiny, black hair, answered the door. Faith nervously uncertain as to the correct procedure, presented her card, which the maid scanned nonsightedly as she bore it away, leaving the door ajar.

Faith could not help hearing snatches of the conversation from an

The Primrose Path

Youth is the time the mind lays out its primrose pathways. They are always just ahead.

In school we look up the road a few years and see ourselves in college. When we get there—if we do—we again look up the road and see ourselves in a profession or business.

All of that may be just idle dreaming or it may be realized by Faith and determination.

The secret of life is to pull these dream places down out of the clouds and get them firmly fixed in the consciousness.

inner room. "Hathaway! That Cherry Willey's sister—you know, Rose—murder—her baby!"

It took all of Faith Hathaway's courage to remain where she was, head high, eyes hot with humiliation and anger, until the colored maid came back, shaking her be-capped head with assumed regret: "Mis' Bronson say she sorry but she got a headache from the heat and is layin' down. She say call again, please."

"Call again! As if I were a bill collector!" Faith stormed to herself as she marched down the flagstone path, her head still high, but her face even more red than it had been after her rebuff from Mrs. Minnock. She did not make another "call."

She would have died rather than submit her bruised pride to another such snubbing. So she was a pariah on Serenity Boulevard! Serenity! She wanted to run home, but she forced herself to walk sedately. And when she reached her own lawn she found a long, shining limousine drawn up to the curb. The Pruitt's car! Faith felt like shouting aloud for her snubbing neighbors to look. Let them flout her. She still had friends!

MONDAY: Selma Pruitt tells Faith a few plain truths.

NACHUSA ITEMS

Nachusa—Rev. and Mrs. P. H. Stahl and family returned home Friday evening from a very pleasant visit with relatives in Pennsylvania and other eastern states.

Franklin Grove—The wedding of Miss Mary Adeline Smith and LeRoy J. Miller occurred yesterday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Galen Lehman, a former Franklin Grove boy, who is pastor of the Church of the Brethren at Conway, Kan., performed the ceremony. Following the ceremony a three course luncheon was served by the following young ladies, close friends of the bride: Misses Helen Adams and Emily Banker of this place, Miss Lucille Morris of Chicago, and Miss Myrtle Esther Peggam of Clinton, Ill.

The bride was attired in a creation of salmon pink georgette, traveling suit was dark blue, with black and white hat, slippers and stockings to match. The groom wore a suit of dark blue.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Smith. She graduated from the local high school after which she was school teacher in Round Grove and Mt. Morris. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller, who also graduated from the local high school and has been assistant cashier in the State Citizens Bank since its organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller departed in their auto for an extended trip via Yellowstone Park and Columbia River valley for California where they will visit relatives. Upon their return they will reside in the Mrs. Peterman's rooms where the best wishes of their many friends will be with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Krehl and Mrs. Will Williams of Peepert were Sunday visitors at the home of Miss Lucy Krehl.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Faunce of Red Oak, Iowa, were dinner guests Monday at the homes of Miss Adella and Alice Hansen. Mr. Faunce left our village in 1884. His mother, the late Mrs. Ed Faunce was the local photographer in the early days and many of the older ones will remember that Mrs. Faunce "took their first picture and that was a tin type."

Mr. and Mrs. James Patch and son Elwin were guests of relatives at Coleta Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shoemaker entertained with dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Gilbert.

The dates for the chautauque are August 15, 16, 17 and 18. It will be held on the camp grounds. A splendid program has been prepared for this year. 11 numbers in all. The afternoon program will begin at 3:00 o'clock, and the evening program at 8:00 o'clock. Among the attractions are Burdette, character artist and impersonator. A humorist of keen and original interest; The Shaver Jubilee Singers, mixed quartet of colored artists; Dr. Arthur D. Klotz, popular lecturer; the Bergmann Play Company; "The Verdict of Pilate" will be worth the price of the entire season ticket. Those who saw the Biblical play last year will want to see one this year and will urge their friends to be present also. In the evening the same company presents the comedy-drama "Smilin' Through" "The Troubadours" and the lecture by Dr. Gordon B. Smith. A full program will be given next week. Mark the dates, August 15 to 18, and buy your tickets and help boost for the Chautauque.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hullah, a son, July 18.

Miss Emily Banker was a Chicago visitor last week.

One of the happiest social events of the season was the miscellaneous shower for Miss Mary Smith Friday night at the A. J. Stewart home given by Miss Helen Adams. About twenty-two young ladies were present to enjoy the happy event. Several of the number were from out of town. It was all a complete surprise to Miss Smith which added greatly to the pleasure. The color scheme was orchid and pink which made the rooms very beautiful. In the dining room, suspended from the ceiling, was an orchid and pink umbrella. Showers from a small sprinkling can attached to this were little veils as informing the bride to go where to find her gifts which were hidden about the house which proved to be very beautiful and very useful as well. Guessing games and contests of various natures furnished the entertainment, after which refreshments were served. Out of town guests were: Misses Ann and Louise Askeland of Esmond; Miss Ruth Berry of Lee Center, Mrs. Herbert Bull of Morrison; Mrs. Ernest Weishaar of Ashton; Mrs. Ralph Canode of Chicago and Mrs. Joseph Eberly of Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley of South Dixon were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Ruth Kelley.

It is with just pride that we submit the following item. Anything that brings honor to any of our fellow citizens is an honor to our own town as well. We refer to the fact that Postmaster George L. Spangler has risen to a prominent place among the postmasters of Illinois, and at the annual convention held at Peoria last week he was again chosen to head the state organization for the coming year. The Peoria Star of Friday contained a three column front page photo of the Illinois officers, two Leo County postmasters being in the photo. Mr. Spangler as President and Mr. Foster of Steward, as Second Vice President. Postmaster Spangler has attended many conventions and the fact that he is postmaster of Franklin Grove is a boost for the town and we know that whenever and wherever he can he speaks a good word for his home town.

From the Ashton Gazette we learn that Mrs. George B. Garret returned home from the Dixon hospital Saturday, having recovered from her recent operation. Mrs. Garret was a patient at the hospital for a month, and her many friends will be pleased to learn that her condition is improving very nicely. Mrs. Garret will be remembered as Bertha Wingert, formerly of this place, whose friends here are rejoicing with her for her return to health.

The swimming pool these hot days is having its full share of patronage. The water is just lovely, cool and nice. The shade trees to the north make it a fine place for people to rest and watch the bathers. Hardly a day passes but what a party of folks from the nearby towns are at the pool. Lots of fun for only fifteen cents for adults and ten for children.

The Annual Epworth League Institute closed Sunday night. The institute is reported as one of the best ever held. Over 150 were on the grounds all the time. The classes were well attended and much real good was accomplished for the young folks. At the early morning meeting Sunday morning about 100 young people signed cards for either life work or part time services for the Lord.

Manager and Mrs. Warren Hutchinson and their corps of workers, Mrs. Harry G. Wisman, Mrs. George Putman and Miss Eva Bresson of Ashton conducted the dining room during the institute. At each meal they served to about 150 people and the fine meals have brought forth much praise from all. After a few days rest we have been informed that they will serve meals for a large Boy Scout Camp from Mendota, and later will again have charge of the boarding hall for the Advent Camp meeting which will be here next year. Sunday, the closing day, was one of the largest audiences. Dr. Gratz of New York City, editor of the Epworth Herald gave two splendid addresses in the morning and evening. In the afternoon the Ashton band under the leadership of Rev. L. V. Sittler gave a sacred concert.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Packer of Shinglehouse, Pa., came Wednesday for a visit at the home of Mrs. Packer's brother, John Sloggett and wife east of town. Saturday morning a motor trip was enjoyed to Forreston visiting at the home of Mrs. William Sloggett and also at the graves of Mr. Sloggett and Mrs. Packer's mother.

Mrs. Benj. Richwine submitted to an operation yesterday for the removal of her tonsils and later as her strength gains she will submit to another operation for removal of goiter. Mrs. Richwine's friends are joining with her family in hoping for a complete recovery of health.

Miss Garnet Bill went to Stillman Valley Tuesday for a few days visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tetrow and Mrs. Barossa of Chicago were Friday visitors at the Frank Maronde home. Mrs. Jennie Ireland, who has been visiting her brother Frank Maronde, returned to Chicago with them.

the members of the Triangle Class of the Methodist church tomorrow evening at her home.

Wednesday, July 27th. Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Ling and daughter Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Myers, Mrs. Dr. Moore and W. S. Mong attended the wedding of Miss Clara Cleaver, who is Mrs. Ling's niece. The marriage of Miss Cleaver and Gordon Overstreet of Dixon took place at the beautiful country home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph Cleaver. Mrs. Moore with the violin, and Helen Ling at the piano played "At Dawning" and "Oh Promise Me," after which the bridal party marched in to Mendelson's Wedding March. Rev. Holloway of the Oregon M. E. church performed the single ring ceremony, through which "I Love You Truly" was softly played. After congratulations delicious refreshments were served to the many friends and relatives of both bride and groom. Mrs. Marion Rogers of Tulsa, Oklahoma, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Spivey, once of Franklin Grove, was the matron of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Overstreet left immediately on an automobile tour honeymoon. Our wishes for happiness and success go with them.

Walter Blank returned Tuesday night from Elburn where he was employed on the railroads for the past two months.

Mrs. Fred Schreder sold her property next to her residence to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnhart north of Ashton. They expect to move here very soon.

Mrs. Mahoney and daughter Miss Ella and Mrs. Pearl Stege of Oregon were visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Brewer.

Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Thomas and daughter Dorcas, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dierdorf were in Rock Island Monday attending a meeting of the Presbytery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter LaBerge, son and daughter of Maywood, were callers Thursday at the home of Miss Alice Helmerhausen.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jacobs and family of Malta were Sunday visitors at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Miller.

The Methodist Missionary and Aid Society of the Methodist church will meet Thursday, August 4, with Mrs. W. L. Moore. Those who have mite boxes are urged to bring them or to hand them to the mite box superintendent, Mrs. Carrie Crawford.

Sunday afternoon, Lowell Trottnow took his grandmother, Mrs. Susan Lott for a short auto ride. It has been some time since Mrs. Lott has even been out of the house and though she became tired, she thoroughly enjoyed the ride. Her many friends are hoping with her that she may be able to enjoy many more rides while the weather is good.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stephan of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goetzberger of this place were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lookingland Sunday evening.

A petition was circulated this week by Mayor John Cover calling for a special election, to consider the proposition of extending the village limits south. The part of the town south of the school house will no doubt be admitted to the village as the property owners of that neighborhood have unanimously assented by signing a petition to that effect.

The photographers are at work on the lovely new bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. George Shultz. Four workmen from Mt. Morris are putting on the plaster and it is expected they will put the first coat on this week.

Again we are indebted to friends for the many items handed us this week. We thank you all and trust that you will keep the good work up.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Peterman July 26, 1927 a daughter, Donna Carolyn, at Dixon hospital.

A letter from Mrs. G. M. Bassett locates them at the home of their son in Montclair, N. J. Rev. and Mrs. Bassett will be remembered by the older residents of this city as he was pastor of the Methodist church here and at Ashton several years ago. The letter states they are both enjoying good health. Rev. Bassett has retired from the ministry.

is the first of September with the American Legion.

A. C. Morris was a Chicago visitor Wednesday and Thursday.

The death of Mrs. Frank E. Wingert, who has been a patient and intense sufferer for some time occurred Monday morning, thus relieving her of all pain. There are two consoling features in death, viz relief from pain and the introduction into eternity through the gates ajar to the realm of rest for the good. Mrs. Wingert was a firm believer in religion, and her fervent spirit formulated a Christian character worth emulating. A good mother, a loving wife, an affectionate, true neighbor and friend.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Church of the Brethren which she had been a faithful member and faithful worker in the same being a teacher in the Sunday school and at the time of her death President of the Ladies Aid society. Rev. O. D. Buck had charge of the services assisted by Rev. C. W. Lahman.

By This Ceremony a Poor Servant Girl Becomes One of America's Richest Society Matrons

—Photo Copyright, 1927, NEA Service. Transmitted by airplane and telephoto. Here is the wedding ceremony that made Lena Wilson, once a poor servant girl in the Stillman mansion at Grand Anse, Quebec, the bride of James A. ("Bud") Stillman, Jr., and one of the richest society matrons in the country. At the right is Father L'Ami, Catholic priest of Grand Piesl, who officiated. Before him, kneeling in front of the improvised altar on the lawn of the Stillman estate is the bridal party. From left to right they are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman, "Bud's" father and mother; "Bud" Stillman; Lena Wilson and John Wilson, Lena's brother, who gave her in marriage.

RIOTERS BURN PALACE IN VIENNA First Picture of Communist Revolt in Which 70 Were Killed and 500 Wounded

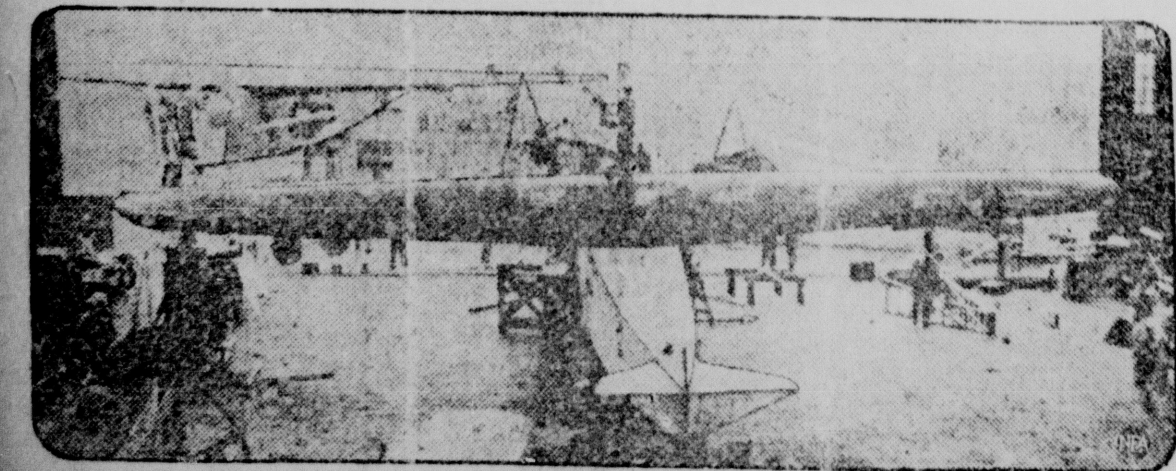

Here is graphically pictured the climax of Vienna's recent war between the government and communists—the burning of the Palace of Justice by a mob. Police fired into the crowd in an attempt to restore order, and in the fighting that followed more than 70 were killed and 500 wounded. A general strike followed. Police declared communists set fire to the palace and led the disorders. After three days troops were able to restore order and maintain peace.

ISN'T IT TOUGH TO GO FISHIN' LIKE THIS? Cameras, Reporters and the President's Straw Hat Scare Trout

Roughing it and winning the west is a tough life, as any pioneer will say, and as President Coolidge proves to the whole world in these historic photographs.

When President Coolidge agreed to pose as a fisherman for the newspaper and movie cameras, all concerned "did their stuff," except the trout—there was nary a bite. The scene is Slate creek, near an abandoned gold mine five miles from Mystic, S. D. Coolidge in a straw hat and business suit is shown at the right with his line in the little stream. On the bank at the left are the cameramen and reporters waiting to picture and describe in minutest detail "the big catch" that wasn't caught. Black Hills trout, it seems, need a good press agent to prevent them from passing up a limelight opportunity like this again.

Bumpity, bump, bumpity, bump—over the rough mountain trail from Mystic, S. D., to Slate creek, high in the hills, the President and Mrs. Coolidge rode along in this primitive wagon so that the president might pose as a fisherman for the movie cameras. Once, when the trail was too much for the labors of the team President Coolidge got out and pushed. Mrs. Coolidge is holding "Tiny Jim," her pet chow dog. Former Governor S. R. McKelvie of Nebraska, who was the Coolidges' host, is shown in the wagon, back of the president. And the secret service men trail along behind.

GRAPHIC PICTURE OF LAKE MICHIGAN SHIP DISASTER IN WHICH TWENTY-SEVEN LOST THEIR LIVES

This remarkable telephoto picture gives a graphic view of the excursion steamer disaster in Lake Michigan, a mile off Chicago, which took a death toll of 27. The Favorite, a small excursion boat, carrying about 75 people out into the lake to escape the oppressive heat, when a sudden squall struck it. Most of the passengers rushed to one side of the boat to escape the rain. This extra weight on one side and the strong wind caused the boat to tip over on its side. The craft then righted itself, but sank so that only its smokestack and top deck were visible as shown in the picture. Life guards rushed to the scene of the disaster and were able to rescue some people who were clinging to the wreckage. The arrow points to a group of the rescuers taking the body of a woman out of the water. In this group is Johnny Weissmuller, world famous swimmer, who aided in the rescue work. This picture was taken from a boat chartered by NEA Service, which remained the scene of the disaster shortly after it occurred.

While President Coolidge pursues the Black Hills trout, Vice President Charles G. (Hell 'n' Maria) Dawes is roughing it at the Philmonte ranch near Tulsa, Okla., as a guest of Waite Phillips. The pipe goes with the picture.

LEE COUNTY FAIR TO BE BEST EVER HELD, INDICATION

Live Stock Exhibition Promises to Break Former Records

Amboy—With a live stock exhibit that promises to break all records, the Lee County fair at Amboy August 23, 24, 25 and 26 will no doubt mean more agriculturally, to this section of the country this year than it ever has meant before. More exhibitors have written signifying their intention of showing this year than in any previous year of the fair's history.

All rides have been contracted for already and four vaudeville acts have been purchased to show as free attractions. They consist of the three Weber girls' peerless exponents of physical culture, so alike in face and form that it is almost impossible to tell one from the other. The girls present an act remarkable in its general scope and unique in the annals of circus acts.

The Machedon brothers, the second act, consists of a side-splitting comedy on the horizontal bars. The Machedon brothers are recognized as two of the foremost exponents of the horizontal bar, the one doing what is termed the straight or legitimate feats of skill, while the other enlivens proceedings with a great deal of ludicrous comment. It is an act that is certain to please.

The Aerial Solts are booked for two acts, consisting of spectacular feats on the double trapeze. They are counted upon for presenting one of the most intricate acts ever seen on the local fair grounds. They have featured with all the leading circuses and are in the headline class of aerial performers. They have been secured by the fair management at a considerable added expense, the management feeling sure the act will afford added satisfaction to the patrons of the fair.

After Great Band
At the present time, the fair management is negotiating to secure one of the finest bands in all Illinois to play during the days. If a first class band is not obtained within the next week or two days, a high priced orchestra of broadcasting fame will be secured to furnish music on the grounds. In either case, this year's fair patrons will be assured of hearing a musical organization of genuine talent and of state wide fame, the management believing that this feature of the fair program is one which is of utmost importance as it is enjoyed by every one at many different periods throughout the entire four days that the fair is in progress.

Dancing will be a feature of the evening program every night. The torchlighters being assured of good music and one of the finest, and generally recognized as the smoothest dancing platforms in all northern Illinois.

With two paid-up closed stake races, the Bankers' and Merchants' and the Amboy Milk Products company, both offering purses of $500, race fans are sure to see some of the best horses in this part of the country in action. Besides the two stakes, the 216 pace, the 225 pace, 212 pace, 225 trot and 215 trot, with purses of $350 each, will fill with an exceptional line-up of horses and the racing will be expected to be a best view with or surpass the standard which has long been upheld on the local fair grounds track.

LASALLE BEGINS BIRTHDAY FETE OF WEEK'S FUN

Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Founding of the City is Marked

LaSalle, Ill., July 30—On August 4, 1852, the village of La Salle became incorporated as a city under the statutes of the state of Illinois. Beginning tomorrow and continuing until Saturday, August 6, LaSalle will present a gala appearance in celebration of the diamond jubilee of that event.

The city will be a mecca for hundreds of former residents while thousands of others from the outlying territory will be in La Salle marking the growth of the "Master Key to the Illinois Valley" from a tiny outpost settlement to one of the most progressive in the entire state.

Governor Len Small, Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, Congressman John T. Buckbee, along with a host of other state, county and city notables have expressed their intention of being in LaSalle on Wednesday, August 3, which has been set aside as home-coming day.

Big Pageant Thursday
The climax of the week's activities will be reached Thursday afternoon, August 4, the anniversary day, with a monster street parade and pageant, depicting the settlement of the Illinois country adjacent to the present site of La Salle, and continuing down through the years until the present day.

Anne Hocking Smith, Chicago theater producer, is in charge of the pageant, which has a cast of several hundred characters, and which will be staged at Hegeler Park, La Salle's immense playground, immediately at the close of the street parade.

More than a hundred decorated floats have been entered in that parade, and with representations from every civic, fraternal and labor organization in the city, the marching column will extend for several miles in length. Elaborate plans are under way for this feature of the week's celebration, and it will prove the most spectacular of the score of events planned by the 300 committeemen working on the jubilee plans.

Today has been designated by those committeemen for the decoration of store fronts and streets, in almost every instance, store buildings in the entire downtown district will be appropriately dressed in the national colors, while flags will be flown on the streets throughout the entire week.

Special services in every one of the city's 12 churches tomorrow, will mark the opening of the celebration proper.

PICTURES REVOLT AGAINST LIVING COSTS IN FUTURE

Institute of Politics Warn- ed That Farmer Must Get Rights

Williamston, Mass., July 30—(AP)—A revolt by the industrial population against high food costs was pictured before the Institute of Politics today as a possibility in the United States within 48 years.

Henry A. Wallace, son of the former secretary of agriculture, in an address decried "the grave injustice that has been done to agriculture during the past six years."

He predicted a food shortage within 40 years with resultant disturbances that will cause industrial centers "a thousand times as much worry as the present farm situation." He warned that the industrial population might precipitate trouble when an imminent inadequate food supply compels them to pay an undue proportion of their wages for food.

National safety demands that at least one fourth of our population be farmers, he said, foreign food markets notwithstanding.

"The home farmer is the basis of sound national policy even though the seaboard cities seem to like the idea of exporting manufactured goods and importing foods."

When a Man Loves

By ALLIE LOWE MILES

John Barrymore in "WHEN A MAN LOVES" is a Warner Bros. Production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Fabien, good and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescaut, beautiful orphan, whose rascally brother, realizing her worldly value, barter her for gold to Ravaur, rich connoisseur of women. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris, where in a sacred love they live happily together. While Fabien is out Manon's brother steals her for Ravaur, changing her farewell note so that she appears faithless. Heart-broken, Fabien flees. Manon escapes from Ravaur, and returns to the deserted loved one.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

For a moment Marie hesitated, then she replied convincingly, "That's a silly thing to do—he told me nothing on earth could drag him back."

Manon moaned tragically at this unexpected news.

"Don't be a silly and cry. He was glad enough to find that you had gone," lied Marie.

In all justice to Marie, it is only right to say that in her ignorance of love she thought she was doing Manon a favor to help separate her from Fabien and sure poverty.

Manon was so crushed and heart-broken that she did not even move as Lescaut came puffing up the stairs. She heard him and understood that he had followed with the intention of taking her back. A wink of understanding and a smile of glad welcome passed between Lescaut and Marie.

"And what's more you ain't going to stay here tonight."

"Come on, dearie—go with the pretty gentleman," she wheedled, eager to get mixed up in the affair and help Lescaut.

Manon's spirit was crushed but not killed. Looking dully at Des Grieux, she said distinctly, "I will not go back!"

"Do you want to sit here and starve while you wait for Des Grieux?" inquired Lescaut impatiently.

"He wouldn't let me," defended Manon loyally.

"You're a little fool—he will never show up here again."

Attracted by voices in the unpaid attic room, the landlady came slinking in. "So, you're back! You're bold ones—you and your young man, skipping off without paying your week's rent. I'll take it now." She held out her hand, threateningly.

"I do not have it just now—but you'll get it tomorrow. Please be patient until then," pleaded Manon.

"Patient! Nothing!" the landlady exploded disgustedly. "And what's more you ain't going to stay here tonight because the room's rented to another party."

Manon closed her eyes in dread and terror. What could she do? Where could she go?

Greatly amused at the little scene, Lescaut intervened. "Here is the rent, old lady." And he airily dropped a gold piece into her palm. Confident now, that he had his way he pushed Manon roughly toward the door.

As he touched her she pulled away, "I have told you before—I am not going with you!"

"Oh, all right, then! Do you want to sleep in the street?"

"I want you to let me alone," cried Manon desperately.

"Very well, do as you please. I am through!" Lescaut bowed mockingly and went out. He felt that this time by insistence he had known enough of the world to feel that sooner or later Manon would be forced to do as he dictated. In the meantime he planned to keep a steady eye on her movements. It amounted to the same thing as watching one's money bags.

CHAPTER X

Manon wandered out into the night, more alone than ever. The darkness was bewildering and she had no idea where to go. An arched passageway, seemingly deserted, offered momentary shelter. With pounding heart she sought its seclusion and leaned against the wall, to collect her thoughts.

When her eyes became accustomed to the darkness she recoiled in panic. The pasty face of a hawk-eyed apache was leering at her from the opposite wall!

He also was seeking shelter, but glad enough to have such sweet company thrust upon him.

Manon's knees collapsed and she sank in a terrified heap on the cold stones. Too frightened to move, her horror mounted when the repulsive creature crawled forward and pressed his ghostly face against her shaking arm.

Summoning every ounce of strength Manon whirled quickly about on hands and knees and regained her feet just in time to escape two long arms reaching up to pull her down. With a terrified cry and throbbing temples, Manon sought the lighted streets and any safety they might afford.

Almost hysterical with fright she stumbled along, fighting with herself to keep down the sob. The lights from a cheap cafe seemed to signal a safe resting place and she eagerly sought their brilliance.

A huge, heavy set man with brutal features came along the street and watched Manon with interest. His day's work being over he was in the mood to find diversion with a pretty girl. Manon was the best looking one he had ever seen.

Walking close to her, he paused. "Hello, dearie!" he said. "Looking for me?"

A quick glance at the coarse featured brute and Manon was galvanized into action; but before she had taken two steps big rough hands reached out and grabbed her arms.

With a strength born of terror the harassed girl tore herself free and darted down the alleyway, leading to the inside cafe door.

The pleasure seeking laborer knew that she could not escape, and with a satisfied laugh he lumbered along in her wake.

Manon tripped and fell. Before she could get up a drowsy laugh rang in her ears. Half fainting with terror, she was conscious enough to struggle and beat her small fists madly against the brute's face as he carried her through the back door of the dowdy cafe.

Although the place was well filled no one gave them more than a casual glance. Such scenes were customary in that den of iniquity where the down-and-outers or those who did not care came to carouse or plot future crimes. Everything but a sense of decency was given free reign.

Kicking and screaming, Manon was carried through the open center room into one of the high walled private stalls that surrounded it.

Fabien could not tell why he loved Manon so deeply and to the exclusion of all else. No matter what happened she was his life and he could not believe that she had been untrue to their love.

After the first revulsion of feeling had passed, following her mysterious departure, he knew that he would have no peace of mind until she was found. So, after leaving their deserted room, Fabien plodded his weary way along the sure-lanes and byways of Paris, searching every face and shadow for his beloved Manon.

After miles of fruitless wandering the buoyancy left his stride. He needed food, but that want did not compare with the hunger in his heart and the distress that diffused his soul.

His father and mother, but his deep love for Manon made him prefer an obscure and vagabond existence to all the advantages of fortune without her. He was sure that when he found her there would be a satisfactory explanation together they would follow.

The necessity for food, coupled with an exhausting hunger, drove Fabien into a cheap cafe that he thought would suit the fatness of his money pockets. His search for Manon was temporarily abandoned.

"She would never come to a place like this," thought Fabien, "a drinking but frequented by blowy women and cautioned criminals." With a revulsion of feeling at the easy familiarity displayed among the sprawling men and women, he moved through the open center door up to the bar, in an alcove at the end, and ordered a drink of brandy. He swallowed it at a gulp.

It was the first strong drink he had ever taken—it burned his throat and made him choke, but it satisfied and promised the desired forgetfulness. He took another.

Fabien had abandoned his search and dulled his senses at the wrong time; because it was into this same cafe that Manon's abductor had carried her only a few moments earlier.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS GOLF CHAMPION LOOKS FORWARD TO LEGAL LIFE

Wants to Succeed as a Lawyer Rather Than
as a Golfer

New York, July 30.—(AP)—Bobby Jones is looking forward to a career as a lawyer rather than more golf titles. Bobby returned last night from his conquest of St. Andrews where he won the British open championship for the second time in two years, announced he would play no more golf until the national amateur championship at Minneapolis, Aug. 22, and said he would hurry home to Atlanta to brush up on legal matters. Athletes were at the gangplank with a brass band as Bobby rushed into the arms of his mother and his wife and shook hands with some fifty Dixie well-wishers. The homecoming celebration was stripped of formality and a contemplated parade was abandoned.

VON ELM VS. JONES.
Chicago, July 30.—(AP)—A golf clash par excellence is in prospect next month when George Von Elm of Los Angeles defends his national amateur title and Bobby Jones attempts to regain the crown he lost to the Californian last year. Jones' record score of 285 in winning the British open for the second time, averaged a fraction over 71 strokes to the round. But Von Elm has just played 12 rounds on the North Course of the Los Angeles Country Club with an average of under 70.

CHICAGO CHANCE FOR BIG BATTLE LOOMS BRIGHTER

Tex Says It Looks as If City Has Captured Battle

Chicago, July 30.—(AP)—Prospects for Chicago's selection as the Dempsey-Tunney fight site loomed brighter today after Tex Rickard's announcement that the board of directors of his Madison Square Garden Corporation had wired its support of his judgment. Rickard previously was informed that a petition for an order restraining him from use of the Soldier Field would be withdrawn leading him to remark, "It certainly looks like Chicago has captured the big fight." Tex said that unless unforeseen developments arise, the big battle would be staged here September 15 and he added that he already had received orders for $180,000 worth of tickets.

Seen From Press Boxes in Major League Ball Parks

(BY THE AP)
After six victories in a row the Yanks have been halted by Cleveland 6-4 in the series opener. Ruth got three hits in as many attempts, two of them doubles. Washington and Detroit staged an 11 inning thriller to open the series, the Senators finally winning 5-4. After a bad start, Thomas settled down and the White Sox drubbed Philadelphia 6-4. The St. Louis Browns after four consecutive reverses in New York dropped the opener to Boston 8-2. Previously to yesterday the Browns had won ten straight from Boston. Pittsburgh held on to first place, rallying in the ninth to score three runs and defeat Brooklyn 4-3. The Waner brothers were pretty much the entire show. The Cubs won a nerve shattering battle of ten innings with the Giants 5-4. The Giants tied the count in the eighth and put across a run in the tenth, but the Cubs delivered two in their half. Stephenson sent across the winning run with his third hit. St. Louis made it four straight over Philadelphia when they took the series final 6-3. Boston and Cincinnati watched it rain. Save your money each month by buying shares in the Dixon Loan & Building Association. Ask the Secretary, H. U. Bardwell, about its advantages. In the days of the covered wagon—this Bank was organized; more than seventy-two years ago, at the time when the railroads had just been built into Dixon, and when good Lee County land could be purchased from the Government at $1.25 per acre. The sound, conservative banking policies adopted by the officers of this Bank, who were the pioneers of those days, have been consistently followed, and this Bank has been continuously successful for nearly three quarters of a century. You will find a welcome here. We keep in close touch with you and your banking needs.
